PETITION TO REVIEW BALLOT TITLE CERTIFIED BY THE ATTORNEY GENERAL (INITIATIVE PETITION 2016-035)

The Attorney General certified the Ballot Title for Initiative Petition 2016-035 on June 17, 2015. The Chief Petitioner is Jill Gibson. Petitioner timely submitted comments on the Draft Ballot Title for Initiative Petition 2016-035. Eric Winters is Petitioner in this action representing himself, pro se.

Attorney for Petitioner, pro se

STANDING

Petitioner Eric Winters is an Oregon elector dissatisfied with the Certified Ballot Title for Initiative Petition 2016-035. The full text of the Ballot Title, as certified to and filed with the Secretary of State is Attached as Exhibit A.[1] Petitioners timely submitted written comments objecting to the Draft Ballot Title for Initiative Petition 2016-035 with the Secretary of State on June 2, 2015 pursuant to ORS 250.067(1) (Attached as Exhibit C).

The subject of this Petition to Review relates to new language the Attorney General inserted into the Caption, Results Statements and Summary of the Ballot Title after the end of the administrative comment period. Because the language the Petitioners object to was inserted after the expiration of the administrative comment period, Petitioners are entitled to raise these objections for the first time before this Court. Carley v. Myers, 340 Or. 222, 232, 132 P.3d 651, 656 (2006).

OBJECTION

The Ballot Title does not comply with the requirements of ORS 250.035(2) because: 1) its Caption fails to reasonably identify the subject matter of the measure, 2) the Result of "Yes" Vote statement fails to accurately describe the result of approving the measure, and (3) the Summary statement inaccurately portrays aspects of the measure and inappropriately speculates about its effects.

1 The text of the proposed measure for Initiative Petition 2016-035 is attached as Exhibit B.

ARGUMENTS AND AUTHORITIES

When reviewing a certified ballot title, this Court must decide whether the Attorney General's certified ballot title is in "substantial compliance" with the statutory requirements. Huss v. Kulongoski, 323 Or. 266, 269, 917 P.2d 1018 (1996); McCormick v. Kroger, 347 Ore. 293, 300, 220 P.3d 412 (2009).

I. The Ballot Title Caption Does Not Comply with ORS § 250.035(2)(a)

ORS § 250.035(2)(a) requires a "caption of not more than 15 words that reasonably identifies the subject matter of the state measure." The Caption for Initiative Petition 2016-035 ("IP 35") certified by the Attorney General does to meet this standard for two reasons. First, it fails to identify the subject matter of the proposed state measure which is to remove legal requirements that force two parties to associate with one another. Second it improperly identifies the subject matter of the proposed measure by attributing an indirect and theoretical and "free rider" effect as its central purpose.

The Caption of the Attorney General's Draft Ballot Title accurately captured the central effect of IP 35:

> "Public employee unions not required to represent non-members; may not assess non-members for representation costs"2

Currently, Oregon law requires a labor organization ("union") to collectively bargain on behalf of public employees within an appropriate bargaining unit ("ABU") if a voting

2 Petitioner objected in comments that the meaning "representation costs" would have been more clearly by voters as "union services", but otherwise found the Caption to accurately portray the central purpose of the proposed measure.

majority of the members of the ABU have chosen that union to serve as its exclusive representative.3 Public employees who do not choose to join the union may be nevertheless compelled by law to make "payments-in-lieu-of-dues" to the union under a "fair share agreement."4 The purpose of such an arrangement is to "defray the cost for services by the exclusive representative in negotiations and contract administration of all persons in an appropriate bargaining unit who are not members of the organization serving as exclusive representative of the employees." (ORS 243.650(18)). Employees may be assigned to an ABU by a third party (the Employment Relations Board or an employer) but lack any statutory authority to prevent their assignment to an ABU.5 The Employment Relations Board is empowered issue administrative rules governing the designation of an ABU.6

By the interplay of the laws described in the preceding paragraph, two parties (a union representing an ABU and non-members of a union within the ABU) may be compelled to associate with one another against their will. The union must represent every ABU member during collective bargaining and every ABU member can be compelled to pay the union for cost of related bargaining services.

The central purpose of IP 35 was to free both of these parties from these compelled associations by eliminating and modifying the statutes that bound them. Section 8 of IP 35 specifically directs that unions would not be required to collectively bargain on behalf of

3 ORS 243.650(8)
4 ORS 243.650(10); ORS 250.650(18) and ORS 243.672(1)(c).
5 ORS 243.650(1).
6 ORS 243.766(1)

non-member public employees or provide them with "representation services." Section 5 of IP 35 prohibits unions from assessing dues or payments-in-lieu-of-dues to non-members.7 The remaining changes to existing law proposed by IP 35 either altered or removed language that was incompatible with the changes described in this paragraph.

The Caption in the Attorney General's Certified Ballot Title neglects to mention of the central purpose of IP 35: to free unions and non-members from compelled associations. It does not inform voters that unions would not be required to bargain on behalf of non-members. It does not inform voters that non-members of a union could not be compelled to make payments to a union. Instead, the Caption describes theoretical benefits that non-union public employees might indirectly gain from the efforts of a union that does not represent them.

The Attorney General altered the draft ballot title after comments by union officials argued that ballot titles for previous initiative filings were required to describe a "free rider effect" where the direct receipt of union representation activities would be uncompensated. Commenters cited a long history of cases that required such mention for initiative filings that prevented the assessment of dues (or payments-in-lieu-of-dues) by unions to non-members. However, none of the cited cases involved a proposal like IP 35 that would remove any obligation of a public employee union to bargain on behalf of non-members.

7 The other significant change regulates the length of membership agreements between a union and their members and method of renewal. This change can be adequately described in the Results statements and the summary.

The argument for extending the "free rider" component in the Caption is that non-union employees who are assigned to an ABU would necessarily benefit from a union's negotiations with a public employer when the employment terms are established for union employees in the ABU. This relies on speculation about a number of unknown factors: 1) whether non-members would bargain and commit to employment terms before or after a union collectively bargains, 2) how non-members would act in their own negotiations with their employer, 3) whether non-members would even be assigned to an ABU under the current designation rules of the Employment Relations Board (ERB) and, 4) whether or not the ERB would adopt rules on ABU designations to adapt to the statutory changes in IP 35. There may be many other factors that would affect non-members in their employment negotiations, but Attorney General should not be permitted to speculate about the indirect consequences resulting from the interplay of such factors.

The "free rider" concept should not be extended to require the mention of any speculative indirect benefit a non-member might receive if IP 35 is adopted. To do so would pervert the ballot title process by allowing the Attorney General to ignore the direct effects of a measure when describing its subject matter in favor of an indirect and speculative effect.8 The Attorney General should be directed to adopt the original Caption in the Draft Ballot Title for IP 35 listed above or a similar version that describes how unions and non-nonmembers of unions would be directly untethered under IP 35.

8 "In all events, the information must pertain to an identified, actual "effect" of enacting the measure; it is not permissible to "speculate about the possible effects of a proposed measure." Girod v. Kroger, 351 Or. 389 (Or., 2011).

II. Result of "Yes" Vote Does Not Comply with ORS § 250.035(2)(b)

The Result of "Yes" Vote Statement is flawed in the same manner as the Caption. The "Yes" Statement should describe the "result or results of enactment that would have the greatest importance to the people of Oregon." Novick v. Myers, 337 Or 568, 574, 100 P3d 1064 (2004). The "Yes" Vote statement in the original Draft Ballot Title provided:

> Result of "Yes" Vote: "Yes" vote authorizes public employee unions to decline representing non-members. Non-members cannot be required to pay representation costs. Union membership requires annual renewal.9

The Attorney General modified the Result of "Yes" Vote statement in the Certified Ballot Title to amplify "free rider" concerns in a very misleading manner. Like the Caption, it does not disclose that unions would not have to bargain on behalf of non-members, nor does it disclose that non-members could not be required to pay a union for unrequested services. Instead, the statement implies that non-union public employees would continue to receive representation services from the union but that they could "refuse to share in costs" attributable to such union services. This description is Orwellian. As discussed above, Sections 5 and 8 of IP 35 would prevent public employees who are non-members of a union from being charged for the direct cost of services that the unions would not be required to provide. The language of the Result of "Yes" Vote statement in the Certified Ballot Title appears to have been crafted for the purpose of directly refuting the straightforward provisions of IP 35.

9 Petitioner submitted comments urging the Attorney General to adopt the following "Yes" Vote Statement: Result of "Yes" Vote: "Yes" vote authorizes public employee unions to decline representing non-members. Non-members cannot be required to pay for union services. Union membership requires annual written renewal.

The Attorney General should return to the original Result of "Yes" statement in the Draft Ballot Title or adopt the suggested changes in footnote 8 that were submitted by Petitioner during the comment period.

III. The Summary Does Not Comply with ORS § 250.035(2)(d)

The Summary of a ballot title must be a "concise and impartial statement of not more than 125 words summarizing the state measure and its major effect." ORS 250.035(2)(d). "The function of the summary is 'to provide voters with enough information to understand what will happen if the measure is approved.'" Girod v. Kroger, 351 Ore. 389, 399, 268 P.3d 562 (2011) (quoting Caruthers v. Kroger, 347 Ore. 660, 670, 227 P.3d 723 (2010)). "That information may include a description of the effect of the measure at issue on other laws, so long as the description is accurate." Girod, 351 Ore. at 399 (quoting Berman v. Kroger, 347 Ore. 509, 514, 225 P.3d 32 (2009)). "In all events, the information must pertain to an identified, actual 'effect' of enacting the measure; it is not permissible to 'speculate about the possible effects of a proposed measure.'" Girod, 351 Ore. at 399-400 (quoting Pelikan/Tauman v. Myers, 342 Ore. 383, 389, 153 P.3d 117 (2007) (emphasis in original); see also Kain v. Myers (S49089), 333 Ore. 446, 450-51, 41 P.3d 416 (2002) (ballot title need not mention "conditional and conjectural" effects of proposed measure).

The Summary of the Certified Ballot Title for IP 35 is not impartial and does not summarize the major effect of the measure. Particularly, it does not "pertain to an identified, actual 'effect' of enacting the measure." Girod, 351 Ore. at 399-400. Beginning with the second sentence the Attorney General inserts language intended to cast doubt on whether the clear commandment in Section 8 of IP 35 means something else entirely:

> "Measure states that public employee union is not required to represent non-union public employees in bargaining unit (effect is unclear)..."

That sort of commentary has no basis in a ballot title describing IP 35. Commenters Vaandering and Darby suggested such language because the Court permitted it in Caruthers v. Myers, 344 Or 596 (2008). The proposed initiative in Caruthers was presented as an unnumbered narrative statute consisting of five sentences. It attempted to introduce uniform reforms to the relationships between public sector employees and their unions, and private sector employees and their unions. There is nothing unclear about the command in Section 8 of IP 35 that "A labor organization is not required to collectively bargain for or provide representation services to public employees who choose to not join a labor organization and who do not pay for such services." IP 35 unequivocally addresses the relationship between public employees and carefully modifies statutory definitions throughout ORS Chapter 243 to ensure the changes are implemented. None of the comments cited by the Attorney General explain why it is unclear whether Section 8 of IP 35 would go into effect. Rather the commenters focus on arguments that the import of this change may be indirectly blunted by an assortment of factors that cannot be readily quantified. Arguments that unions may end up bargaining (indirectly) on behalf of non-members is speculative and is far more likely to misinform a voter than to provide clear and accurate information.

The third sentence in the summary is equally speculative: "Measure prohibits requiring non-members to pay union representation costs, including costs of negotiating agreements setting wages/benefits received by non-members; changes membership and renewal procedures." (emphasis added). The emphasized clause presents a theoretical circumstance as if it will occur. The measure also prohibits requiring non-members to pay for union representation costs generated while bargaining away employment terms preferred by non-members. It is a mistake to assume that non-members automatically benefit from union negotiations. As discussed above, the employment terms of non-members will be influenced by a number of factors. The adoption of IP 35 will likely influence the administrative laws governing ABU designation and collective bargaining as well as changes to common practices. Changes in the law often create ripple effects that alter existing relationships and expectations. There is no reason to assume that the relationships affected by IP 35 will not evolve as a result of its implementation. Neither is there a basis for definitively concluding that the wages and benefits of non-members will be automatically pegged to collective bargaining agreements of union members.

The Attorney General should remove speculative inferences from the second and third sentences of the summary and describe those changes to the law that IP 35 uncontrovertibly demands.

Conclusion

IP 35 has one "major effect"—to prevent the compelled association between unions and those public employees who do not choose to join them. The Certified Ballot Title obstinately refuses to recognize this effect and thereby fail to meet the standards of ORS 250.035(2). The Ballot Title should be modified in the manners described in the foregoing paragraphs. DATED this 19th day of December, 2013.

BALLOT TITLE

Non-union public employees may benefit from union bargaining without sharing representation costs; modifies representation obligations

Result of "Yes" Vote: "Yes" vote allows non-union public employees in union-represented bargaining unit to refuse to share in costs of representation union provides; modifies union's representation obligations.

Result of "No" Vote: "No" vote retains current law allowing collective bargaining agreements requiring non-member, union-represented public employees to share in costs of representation union legally must provide.

Summary: Current law allows public employees to bargain collectively through a labor organization/union as their exclusive representative; prohibits requiring union membership as a condition of public employment; requires union to represent (in negotiations and contract enforcement) all public employees in bargaining unit; allows collective bargaining agreements requiring non-members in bargaining unit to share the costs of the legally required union representation. Measure states that public employee union is not required to represent non-union public employees in bargaining unit (effect is unclear). Measure prohibits requiring non-members to pay union representation costs, including costs of negotiating agreements setting wages/benefits received by non-members; changes membership and renewal procedures. Measure applies to new/renewed/extended contracts entered into after the effective date of the measure. Other provisions.

Ex A

Be It Enacted by the people of the state of Oregon:

SECTION 1. The people of Oregon find that:

(1) A person shall have the individual freedom of choice in the pursuit of public employment.
(2) A person shall not be required to be a member of a labor organization as a condition of public employment.
(3) A person shall not be required to make compulsory payments to a labor organization as a condition of public employment.
(4) A labor organization shall not be required to collectively bargain for or provide representation services to public employees who choose to not join a labor organization.

SECTION 2. Compulsory payments to labor organizations by public employees who choose to not join a labor organization shall be prohibited.

SECTION 3. ORS 243.650 is amended to read:
ORS 243.650. As used in ORS 243.650 to 243.782, unless the context requires otherwise:

(1) "Appropriate bargaining unit" means the unit designated by the Employment Relations Board or voluntarily recognized by the public employer to be appropriate for collective bargaining. However, an appropriate bargaining unit may not include both academically licensed and unlicensed or nonacademically licensed school employees. Academically licensed units may include but are not limited to teachers, nurses, counselors, therapists, psychologists, child development specialists and similar positions. This limitation does not apply to any bargaining unit certified or recognized prior to June 6, 1995, or to any school district with fewer than 50 employees.

(2) "Board" means the Employment Relations Board.

(3) "Certification" means official recognition by the board that a labor organization is the exclusive representative for all of the employees who have chosen to join a labor organization in the appropriate bargaining unit.

(4) "Collective bargaining" means the performance of the mutual obligation of a public employer and the representative of its employees who have chosen to join a labor organization to meet at reasonable times and confer in good faith with respect to employment relations for the purpose of negotiations concerning mandatory subjects of bargaining, to meet and confer in good faith in accordance with law with respect to any dispute concerning the interpretation or application of a collective bargaining agreement, and to execute written contracts incorporating agreements that have been reached on behalf of the public employer and the employees in the bargaining unit covered by such negotiations. The obligation to meet and negotiate does not compel either party to agree to a proposal or require the making of a concession. This subsection may not be construed to prohibit a public employer and a certified or recognized representative of its employees who have chosen to join a labor organization from discussing or executing written agreements regarding matters other than mandatory subjects of bargaining that are not prohibited by law as long as there is mutual agreement of the parties to discuss these matters, which are permissive subjects of bargaining.

(5) "Compulsory arbitration" means the procedure whereby parties involved in a labor dispute are required by law to submit their differences to a third party for a final and binding decision.

(6) "Confidential employee" means one who assists and acts in a confidential capacity to a person who formulates, determines and effectuates management policies in the area of collective bargaining.

(7)(a) "Employment relations" includes, but is not limited to, matters concerning direct or indirect monetary benefits, hours, vacations, sick leave, grievance procedures and other conditions of employment.

(b) "Employment relations" does not include subjects determined to be permissive, nonmandatory subjects of bargaining by the Employment Relations Board prior to June 6, 1995.

(c) After June 6, 1995, "employment relations" does not include subjects that the Employment Relations Board determines to have a greater impact on management's prerogative than on employee wages, hours, or other terms and conditions of employment.

(d) "Employment relations" does not include subjects that have an insubstantial or de minimis effect on public employee wages, hours, and other terms and conditions of employment.

(e) For school district bargaining, "employment relations" excludes class size, the school or educational calendar, standards of performance or criteria for evaluation of teachers, the school curriculum, reasonable dress, grooming and at-work personal conduct requirements respecting smoking, gum chewing and similar matters of personal conduct, the standards and procedures for student discipline, the time between student classes, the selection, agendas and decisions of 21st Century Schools Councils established under ORS 329.704, requirements for expressing milk under ORS 653.077, and any other subject proposed that is permissive under paragraphs (b), (c) and (d) of this subsection.

(f) For employee bargaining involving employees covered by ORS 243.736, "employment relations" includes safety issues that have an impact on the on-the-job safety of the employees or staffing levels that have a significant impact on the on-the-job safety of the employees.

(g) For all other employee bargaining except school district bargaining and except as provided in paragraph (f) of this subsection, "employment relations" excludes staffing levels and safety issues (except those staffing levels and safety issues that have a direct and substantial effect on the on-the-job safety of public employees), scheduling of services provided to the public, determination of the minimum qualifications necessary for any position, criteria for evaluation or performance appraisal, assignment of duties, workload when the effect on duties is insubstantial, reasonable dress, grooming, and at-work personal conduct requirements respecting smoking, gum chewing, and similar matters of personal conduct at work, and any other subject proposed that is permissive under paragraphs (b), (c) and (d) of this subsection.

(8) "Exclusive representative" means the labor organization that, as a result of certification by the board or recognition by the employer, has the right to be the collective bargaining agent of all employees who have chosen to join a labor organization in an appropriate bargaining unit.

(9) "Fact-finding" means identification of the major issues in a particular labor dispute by one or more impartial individuals who review the positions of the parties, resolve factual differences and make recommendations for settlement of the dispute.

[(10) "Fair-share agreement" means an agreement between the public employer and the recognized or certified bargaining representative of public employees whereby employees who are not members of the employee organization are required to make an in-lieu-of-dues payment to an employee organization except as provided in ORS 243.666. Upon the filing with the board of a petition by 30 percent or more of the employees in an appropriate bargaining unit covered by such union security agreement declaring they desire that the agreement be rescinded, the board shall take a secret ballot of the employees in the unit and certify the results thereof to the recognized or certified bargaining representative and to the public employer. Unless a majority of the votes cast in an election favor the union security agreement, the board shall certify deauthorization of the agreement. A petition for deauthorization of a union security agreement must be filed not more than 90 calendar days after the collective bargaining agreement is executed. Only one such election may be conducted in any appropriate bargaining unit during the term of a collective bargaining agreement between a public employer and the recognized or certified bargaining representative.]

(10) [(11)] "Final offer" means the proposed contract language and cost summary submitted to the mediator within seven days of the declaration of impasse.

(11) [(12)] "Labor dispute" means any controversy concerning employment relations or concerning the association or representation of persons in negotiating, fixing, maintaining, changing, or seeking to arrange terms or conditions of employment relations, regardless of whether the disputants stand in the proximate relation of employer and employee.

(12) [(13)] "Labor organization" means any organization that has as one of its purposes representing employees in their employment relations with public employers.

(13) [(14)] "Last best offer package" means the offer exchanged by parties not less than 14 days prior to the date scheduled for an interest arbitration hearing.

(14) [(15)] "Legislative body" means the Legislative Assembly, the city council, the county commission and any other board or commission empowered to levy taxes.

(15) [(16)] "Managerial employee" means an employee of the State of Oregon or the Oregon University System who possesses authority to formulate and carry out management decisions or who represents management's interest by taking or effectively recommending discretionary actions that control or implement employer policy, and who has discretion in the performance of these management responsibilities beyond the routine discharge of duties. A "managerial employee" need not act in a supervisory capacity in relation to other employees. Notwithstanding this subsection, "managerial employee" does not include faculty members at a community college, college or university.

(16) [(17)] "Mediation" means assistance by an impartial third party in reconciling a labor dispute between the public employer and the exclusive representative regarding employment relations.

[(18) "Payment-in-lieu-of-dues" means an assessment to defray the cost for services by the exclusive representative in negotiations and contract administration of all persons in an appropriate bargaining unit who are not members of the organization serving as exclusive representative of the employees. The payment must be equivalent to regular union dues and assessments, if any, or must be an amount agreed upon by the public employer and the exclusive representative of the employees.]

(17) [(19)] "Public employee" means an employee of a public employer but does not include elected officials, persons appointed to serve on boards or commissions, incarcerated persons working under section 41, Article I of the Oregon Constitution, or persons who are confidential employees, supervisory employees or managerial employees.

(18) [(20)] "Public employer" means the State of Oregon, and the following political subdivisions: Cities, counties, community colleges, school districts, special districts, mass transit districts, metropolitan service districts, public service corporations or municipal corporations and public and quasi-public corporations.

(19) [(21)] "Public employer representative" includes any individual or individuals specifically designated by the public employer to act in its interests in all matters dealing with employee representation, collective bargaining and related issues.

(20) [(22)] "Strike" means a public employee's refusal in concerted action with others to report for duty, or his or her willful absence from his or her position, or his or her stoppage of work, or his or her absence in whole or in part from the full, faithful or proper performance of his or her duties of employment, for the purpose of inducing, influencing or coercing a change in the conditions, compensation, rights, privileges or obligations of public employment; however, nothing shall limit or impair the right of any public employee to lawfully express or communicate a complaint or opinion on any matter related to the conditions of employment.

(21) [(23)] "Supervisory employee" means any individual having authority in the interest of the employer to hire, transfer, suspend, lay off, recall, promote, discharge, assign, reward or discipline other employees, or responsibly to direct them, or to adjust their grievances, or effectively to recommend such action, if in connection therewith, the exercise of the authority is not of a merely routine or clerical nature but requires the use of independent judgment. Failure to assert supervisory status in any Employment Relations Board proceeding or in negotiations for any collective bargaining agreement does not thereafter prevent assertion of supervisory status in any subsequent board proceeding or contract negotiation. Notwithstanding the provisions of this subsection, a nurse, charge nurse or similar nursing position may not be deemed to be supervisory unless that position has traditionally been classified as supervisory.

(22) [(24)] "Unfair labor practice" means the commission of an act designated an unfair labor practice in ORS 243.672.

(23) [(25)] "Voluntary arbitration" means the procedure whereby parties involved in a labor dispute mutually agree to submit their differences to a third party for a final and binding decision.

SECTION 4. ORS 243.656 is amended to read:

243.656 Policy statement. The Legislative Assembly finds and declares that:

(1) The people of this state have a fundamental interest in the development of harmonious and cooperative relationships between government and its employees;

(2) Recognition by public employers of the right of public employees to organize and full acceptance of the principle and procedure of collective negotiation between public employers and public employee organizations can alleviate various forms of strife and unrest. Experience in the private and public sectors of our economy has proved that unresolved disputes in the public service are injurious to the public, the governmental agencies, and public employees;

(3) Experience in private and public employment has also proved that protection by law of the right of employees to organize and negotiate collectively safeguards employees and the public from injury, impairment and interruptions of necessary services, and removes certain recognized sources of strife and unrest, by encouraging practices fundamental to the peaceful adjustment of disputes arising out of differences as to wages, hours, terms and other working conditions, and by establishing greater equality of bargaining power between public employers and public employees;

(4) The state has a basic obligation to protect the public by attempting to assure the orderly and uninterrupted operations and functions of government; and

(5) It is the purpose of ORS 243.650 to 243.782 to protect the right and freedom of public employees to choose whether or not to join a labor organization. It is also the purpose of ORS 243.650 to 243.782 to prohibit compulsory payments to labor organizations by public employees who choose to not join a labor organization. It is also the purpose of ORS 243.650 to 243.782 to obligate public employers, public employees who choose to join a labor organization, and their representatives to enter into collective negotiations with willingness to resolve grievances and disputes relating to employment relations and to enter into written and signed contracts evidencing agreements resulting from such negotiations. It is also the purpose of ORS 243.650 to 243.782 to promote the improvement of employer-employee relations within the various public employers by providing a uniform basis for recognizing the right of public employees to join organizations of their own choice, and to be represented by such organizations in their employment relations with public employers.

SECTION 5. ORS 243.662 is amended to read:

243.662. (1) Public employees have the right and freedom to choose whether or not to form, join and participate in the activities of labor organizations of their own choosing for the purpose of representation and collective bargaining with their public employer on matters concerning employment relations.

(2) Public employees who choose to not join a labor organization or to not annually renew membership in such an organization shall not be required to pay dues or payments-in-lieu-of-dues to a labor organization, another organization, or third party as a condition of employment.

SECTION 6. ORS 243.666 is amended to read:

243.666. (1) A labor organization certified by the Employment Relations Board or recognized by the public employer is the exclusive representative of the employees of a public employer who annually indicate in writing that they choose to join and be represented by a labor organization for the purposes of collective bargaining with respect to employment relations. [Nevertheless any agreements entered into involving union security including an all-union agreement or agency shop agreement must safeguard the rights of nonassociation of employees, based on bona fide religious tenets or teachings of a church or religious body of which such employee is a member. Such employee shall pay an amount of money equivalent to regular union dues and initiation fees and assessments, if any, to a nonreligious charity or to another charitable organization mutually agreed upon by the employee affected and the representative of the labor organization to which such employee would otherwise be required to pay dues. The employee shall furnish written proof to the employer of the employee that this has been done.]

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (1) of this section, an individual employee who is represented by a labor organization or group of such employees at any time may present grievances to their employer and have such grievances adjusted, without the intervention of the labor organization, if:

(a) The adjustment is not inconsistent with the terms of a collective bargaining contract or agreement then in effect; and

(b) The labor organization has been given opportunity to be present at the adjustment.

(3) Nothing in this section prevents a public employer from recognizing a labor organization which represents at least a majority of employees as the exclusive representative of the employees of a public employer when the board has not designated the appropriate bargaining unit or when the board has not certified an exclusive representative in accordance with ORS 243.686.

SECTION 7. ORS 243.672 is amended to read:

243.672. (1) It is an unfair labor practice for a public employer or its designated representative to do any of the following:

(a) Interfere with, restrain or coerce employees in or because of the exercise of rights guaranteed in ORS 243.662.

(b) Dominate, interfere with or assist in the formation, existence or administration of any employee organization.

(c) Discriminate in regard to hiring, tenure or any terms or condition of employment for the purpose of encouraging or discouraging membership in an employee organization. [Nothing in this section is intended to prohibit the entering into of a fair-share agreement between a public employer and the exclusive bargaining representative of its employees. If a "fair-share" agreement has been agreed to by the public employer and exclusive representative, nothing prohibits the deduction of the payment-in-lieu-of-dues from the salaries or wages of the employees.]

(d) Discharge or otherwise discriminate against an employee because the employee has signed or filed an affidavit, petition or complaint or has given information or testimony under ORS 243.650 to 243.782.

(e) Refuse to bargain collectively in good faith with the exclusive representative.

(f) Refuse or fail to comply with any provision of ORS 243.650 to 243.782.

(g) Violate the provisions of any written contract with respect to employment relations including an agreement to arbitrate or to accept the terms of an arbitration award, where previously the parties have agreed to accept arbitration awards as final and binding upon them.

(h) Refuse to reduce an agreement, reached as a result of collective bargaining, to writing and sign the resulting contract.

(i) Violate ORS 243.670(2).

(j) Enter into a contract that requires public employees who choose to not join a labor organization to make compulsory payments to a labor organization.

(2) Subject to the limitations set forth in this subsection, it is an unfair labor practice for a public employee or for a labor organization or its designated representative to do any of the following:

(a) Interfere with, restrain or coerce any employee in or because of the exercise of any right guaranteed under ORS 243.650 to 243.782.

(b) Refuse to bargain collectively in good faith with the public employer if the labor organization is an exclusive representative.

(c) Refuse or fail to comply with any provision of ORS 243.650 to 243.782.

(d) Violate the provisions of any written contract with respect to employment relations, including an agreement to arbitrate or to accept the terms of an arbitration award, where previously the parties have agreed to accept arbitration awards as final and binding upon them.

(e) Refuse to reduce an agreement, reached as a result of collective bargaining, to writing and sign the resulting contract.

(f) For any labor organization to engage in unconventional strike activity not protected for private sector employees under the National Labor Relations Act on June 6, 1995. This provision applies to sitdown, slowdown, rolling, intermittent or on-and-off again strikes.

(g) For a labor organization or its agents to picket or cause, induce, or encourage to be picketed, or threaten to engage in such activity, at the residence or business premises of any individual who is a member of the governing body of a public employer, with respect to a dispute over a collective bargaining agreement or negotiations over employment relations, if an objective or effect of such picketing is to induce another person to cease doing business with the governing body member's business or to cease handling, transporting or dealing in goods or services produced at the governing body's business. For purposes of this paragraph, a member of the Legislative Assembly is a member of the governing body of a public employer when the collective bargaining negotiation or dispute is between the State of Oregon and a labor organization. The Governor and other statewide elected officials are not considered members of a governing body for purposes of this paragraph. Nothing in this paragraph may be interpreted or applied in a manner that violates the right of free speech and assembly as protected by the Constitution of the United States or the Constitution of the State of Oregon.

(h) For any labor organization to enter into a contract which requires public employees who choose to not join a labor organization to make compulsory payments to a labor organization.

(3) An injured party may file a written complaint with the Employment Relations Board not later than 180 days following the occurrence of an unfair labor practice. For each unfair labor practice complaint filed, a fee of $300 is imposed. For each answer to an unfair labor practice complaint filed with the board, a fee of $300 is imposed. The board may allow any other person to intervene in the proceeding and to present testimony. A person allowed to intervene shall pay a fee of $300 to the board. The board may, in its discretion, order fee reimbursement to the prevailing party in any case in which the complaint or answer is found to have been frivolous or filed in bad faith. The board shall deposit fees received under this section to the credit of the Employment Relations Board Administrative Account.

SECTION 8.

(1) A labor organization is not required to collectively bargain for or provide representation services to public employees who choose to not join a labor organization and who do not pay for such services.

(2) As used in this section, "representation services" means representation regarding employment relations.

SECTION 9. The Public Employee Choice Act shall not apply to any collective bargaining agreement or contract between an employer and a labor organization entered into before the effective date of the Act but shall apply to a renewal, extension, or modification of any kind of a contract or agreement or to a new contract or agreement entered into after the effective date the Act.

Re: Comments on Draft Ballot Title for #2016-035

Dear Ms. Adkins:

I submit these comments pursuant to ORS 250.067 as an Oregon elector not satisfied with the draft ballot title filed by the Attorney General. I request that the Caption, the Result of "Yes" Vote statement and the Summary be revised as follows to meet the requirements of ORS 250.035.

The Caption provided in the draft ballot title reads:

Public employee unions not required to represent non-members; may not assess non-members for representation costs

The proposed Caption reasonably identifies the subject matter of the proposed measure with one exception. The phrase "may not assess non-members for representation costs" could lead voters to make inaccurate inferences about how non-members are currently charged for payments-in-lieu-of-dues. ORS 243.650(10) defines these charges as "an assessment to defray the cost for services by the exclusive representative in negotiations and contract administration of all persons in an appropriate bargaining unit who are not members of the organization..." (emphasis added).

The "costs" assessed by exclusive representative to non-members under ORS Chapter 243 include collective bargaining and contract administration services that non-members may find subjectively objectionable. Non-members do not have the authority to personally direct the work of their "exclusive representative" so the term "representation" suggests a relationship between the union and the non-member that in many cases simply does not exist. The "services" charged to non-members are more appropriately understood as services provided by a union for all members of an appropriate bargaining unit (whether they want them or not). The appropriate bargaining unit may be collectively represented, but it is inaccurate to apply that language to individual non-members who may personally object to such representation. The following caption more clearly states the proposed changes to the relationship between public employee unions and non-members:

Public employee unions not required to represent non-members; unions may not assess non-members for services

The "Result of 'Yes' Vote" by the Attorney General should follow a similar tack to clearly notify the voters of the most important impact of the proposed measure. As the "Result of 'Yes' Vote" statement only uses twenty-three of twenty-five allotted words, I suggest the following:

> Result of "Yes" Vote: "Yes" vote authorizes public employee unions to decline representing non-members. Non-members cannot be required to pay for union services. Union membership requires annual written renewal.

The "Result of 'No' Vote" sufficiently describes the relationship between public employee unions and non-members as currently drafted.

The Summary begins with a misleading statement. Current law does not permit non-member "public employees to bargain collectively through a labor organization/union of their choosing as their exclusive representative." A majority of union members get to choose the exclusive representative for all employees within an appropriate bargaining unit (union or not). The first sentence of the Summary should be altered to clarify the current law as follows:

> Summary: Current law requires union members and non-members within an appropriate bargaining unit (ABU) of public employees to collectively negotiate employment terms when a majority of the ABU appoints a labor organization/union for that purpose; a labor organization/union cannot decline to represent non-members within an ABU; non-members can be required to pay the labor organization/union for the cost of union services provided to ABU members. Measure removes requirement that public employee unions represent non-members; prohibits requiring non-members to pay for costs associated with representing ABU members; union members must renew membership in writing annually. Measure applies to new, renewed, or extended contracts entered into after the effective date of the measure. Other provisions.

Thank you for considering these comments.
